NUMBER 28

GIVING THE start of the homecoming dance a royal touch are Queen Kathy Hahs and her escort, Tom Henzi, as they dance the first number together.

Kathy Hahs Chosen Queen

Kathy Hahs, 17, reigns as Homecoming Queen for the Sikeston Bulldogs.

She was crowned last night after the Jackson Indians defeated the Bulldogs 19-13, at a dance at the high school.

Tom Henzi, Bulldog center, crowned the senior after the football game.

Miss Hahs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hahs, 731 North Ranney St.

The queen stands 5 feet, 7 inches in height.

She is a cheerleader, a member of the Red Peppers, sings in the concert choir and is a member of the volleyball team. She has been a band member for six years and a Girl Scout 11 years. Lynda Smith, 17, and Judy Matthews, 16, were attendants. Both are seniors.

Miss Matthews is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob L. Matthews, 725 Mimosa. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Smith, 200 Hardin Ave.

Redistricting Fight Looms

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House Reapportionment Committee Friday produced the makings of a prolonged floor fight next week by coming up with what it called a compromise plan for redistricting the Missouri House.

The vote in committee was 5-4 with one member not voting. The committee split appeared to be a forecast of the battle to come when the bill is ready for House debate, possibly Tuesday.

The committee accepted a constitutional amendment proposal which, if approved by the voters, would call for a 20-member bipartisan commission to redistrict the House under the federal courts' one man-one vote decisions.

The congressional committees of each party would nominate two persons. The governor would have to hold at least three public hearings on redistricting before submitting a plan.

Then anyone could file an objection to any portion of the proposal within 15 days. Others would have an additional 15 days to file answers to the original objections. Then the commission could use its original plan or any modification but its decision would be final.

The committee also approved a so-called interim redistricting bill drawn up after months of work by Rep. Morran D. Harris, D-St. Clair County.

It sets up 163 districts and could be used temporarily to prevent the need of a costly special election on any constitutional amendment approved by the legislature.

Or it could be used until the 1970 federal census forced a new redistricting based on population shifts.

Thursday the Senate passed governor's own plan for House redistricting. It would set up a 10-member bipartisan commission selected by the governor from two panels submitted by the state committees of the two parties.

It called for a 154 member House. The House committee version calls for a 163-member House, the same as now.

Hearing On Zoning Change

A public hearing will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the city administrative building to decide whether the 31.5 acre tract of land at the Southwest corner of Murray Lane and Kingshighway will be changed from zoning "A", a single family residence district, to "D", a commercial district.

Cut Down Tree 110 Years Old

Curtis Cline exhibited a piece of a large oak tree, that was cut down Friday on the lawn of Mrs. Siders Tanner, North Kingshighway. The tree was 44 inches in diameter.

The piece of wood cut from the trunk had two square nails imbedded in it that were 14 inches from the outside of the tree.

The mighty oak was about 110 years old.

Beat Off Human Wave

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines, using pistols and fighting hand-to-hand from their tents, beat off a "human wave" assault by the Viet Cong in the early morning darkness today 10 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A U.S. military spokesman said 56 Viet Cong, many of them teenagers, were killed. He described casualties among the 300 Marines as moderate.

One Marine squad, however, was badly mauled. Two of its 14 men were killed and the rest wounded, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong also mortared the U.S. special forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands and launched a flurry of new assaults in the Mekong Delta.

A 13-year-old boy was among the Viet Cong dead at Da Nang. Marines said he had been selling soft drinks to Americans in the area and they found drawings of key U.S. installations on his body.

Five Hurt In Roadside Crash

Five persons were injured in a head-on crash on a road shoulder Friday at 6:15 a.m., three miles north of Brewer on highway 61 in Perry county.

A 1962 Chevrolet, driven by Lillian Berk, 59, backed out of driveway and was parked on the shoulder to let traffic pass. A 1965 Mustang, driven by Dorothy Colner, route six, Perryville, attempted to pass an unidentified car, and ran over on the shoulder striking the Berk car almost head-on.

Injured in the Mustang was the driver, cut and bruised; Betty Boxdorfer, 21, with cuts and bruises; Verda Sutterer, 36, face cuts; and Delores Zernon, 25, with face cuts and neck injury.

The driver of the Chevrolet received a broken knee. All were taken to the Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

At 11:10 a.m. Friday, 12 miles north of Poplar Bluff on highway 67, a three-car collision injured Troy Brittain, 20, Rombauer, driver of a 1961 Ford. He was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital.

A tire blew out on the Brittain car, causing it to run over the center line and hit a 1961 white tractor-trailer, driven by Robert McNeil, 31, Benton, Ark., glance off and strike a 1956 Buick, driven by William Baker, 42, St. Louis.

Girl Dies In Home Fire

CAIRO -- A four-year-old girl was fatally burned in an early morning blaze about five miles north of Cairo Friday.

Rowena Meschel Mitchell failed to escape the fire that destroyed the frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Freddy Mitchell. Her body was found near the front door of the burned home.

Three other Mitchell children, all boys, ranging in age from ten months to 9 years and the parents escaped.

Mitchell told firemen he had built a fire in a stove and gone back to bed.

The fire started from a defective flue, and the roof around the chimney was blazing before it was discovered.

Mitchell helped his wife and three of the children to safety. Assistant Coroner Rev. R. F. Richardson said that an inquest would be held.

NEW YORK (AP) — The automobile industry this week reported record-breaking sales, earnings and production.

General Motors Corp. reported the greatest nine-month profit ever attained by an American company, $1,539,000,000, for the first nine months of 1965. Sales through September ran $15 billion.

Ford Motor Co. also reflected the over-all prosperity of the auto industry, with earnings of $540,200,000 for the first nine months, a company record.

Chrysler Corp. doubled its dividends, on record earnings of $136.5 million and sales of $3.68 billion.

Dealers' sales soared, and so did production.

Economists keep an eye on car sales as an indication of how much money the public has to spend and how willing it is to spend it.

Customers thronged the showrooms and bought 302,920 cars in 10 days this month, industry sources said.

The nine-millionth vehicle built this year rolled off the assembly lines this week, amid predictions the total would reach 11 million by the end of the year.

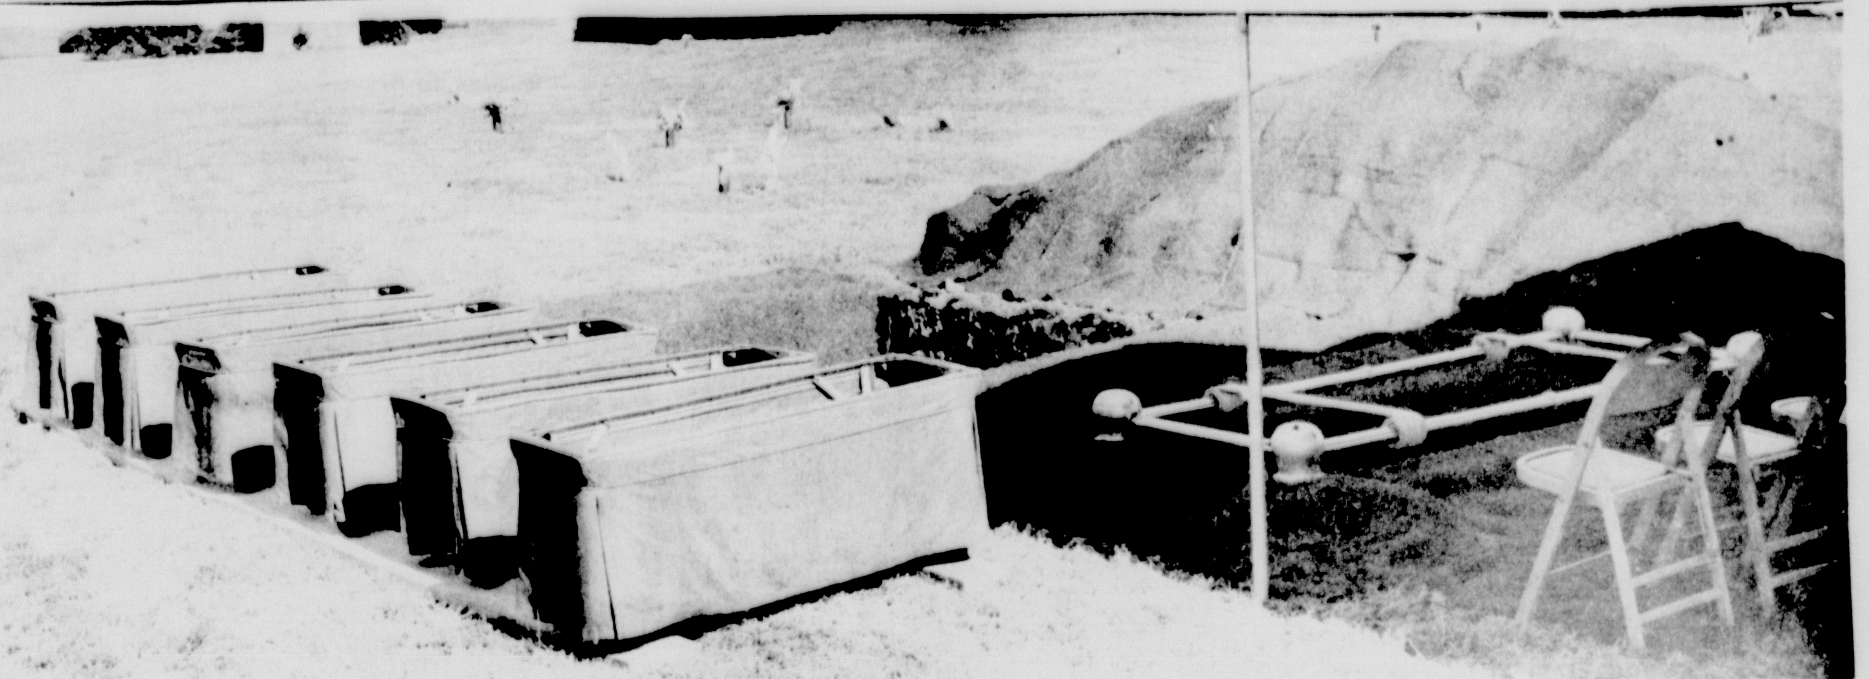

"With continued high levels of consumer purchasing ability and confidence in the economic outlook, there is every reason to expect that car and truck sales will maintain their current pace in the model year ahead," Frederick G. Donner, General Motors chairman, and James M. Roche, president, said in a joint statement.

Some of their optimism rubbed off on the steel industry, where current production has plunged to the lowest level in nearly two years.

Roger Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said the public acceptance accorded 1966 model automobiles boded well for steel.

He predicted steel consumption

No Military Intervention In Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson ruled out British military intervention in Rhodesia today as the two governments announced a royal commission would examine the problem of independence for the British colony.

The announcements came before Wilson's scheduled departure for London after a week of talks with Prime Minister Ian Smith.

At a news conference, Wilson said a period of time was needed before the African majority rule could take over in Rhodesia. This could not be measured by calendar time, he said. His remarks were reported by the South African Press Association.

He added that he believed a democratic solution of the Rhodesian crisis was possible.

The white Rhodesians were under self-delusion, he said, if they thought they could escape the consequences of any illegal action, he said, referring to the threat of a unilateral independence declaration by Smith's white minority government.

The announcement of a royal commission took much of the sting out of the dispute over Rhodesia's future. Wilson and Smith disagreed on the exact terms of reference of the commission, but it assured that talks between Britain and Rhodesia would keep going.

Three Accused Of Failing To Pay

Three persons were arrested by police yesterday on a charge of failure to pay overtime parking tickets.

Those charged were Jerry Auldenberg, Kramer Drive; Wanda Atchley, 324 Selma; and William Cates of Sikeston.

Carlis Taylor and Harold Bryant, both of Morehouse, were also arrested. Taylor is charged with public drunkenness. Bryant is charged with careless and imprudent driving while speeding and drinking.

26 Killed And Four Are Injured In Four Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Twenty-six persons were killed and three others injured in four auto accidents Friday night and early today, police reported.

At Carthage, Tex., Friday night two cars collided on U.S. 59 and swiftly burned, killing six adults and three children.

At Emmitsburg, Md., eight persons were killed and two injured early today in a two-car crash near the intersection of U.S. 15 and Maryland 97 south of the Pennsylvania state line.

All were identified as young male students at Mt. St. Mary's College.

At Pomona, Calif., Friday night five Pomona teen-agers were killed en route to a football game when their convertible veered out of control and turned over.

The driver, held in by a seat belt, was injured.

At Stratton, Maine, Friday night four men drowned when their car missed a curve and plunged upside down into six feet of water in the south branch of the Dead River.

Nine Fined In Magistrate Court For Driving Offenses

CHARLESTON--In Mississippi county magistrate court Thursday, Judge T. J. Brown, Jr. fined nine persons for traffic offenses.

Edward Elston Jones, charged with careless and reckless driving, was fined $50 and $11 costs.

William Thomas Harvey, charged with having defective car lights, was fined $5 and $11 costs.

Otis Kirk, charged with having no vehicle operators license, was fined $5 and $11 costs. Burnett O. Bigham, charged with permitting an unauthorized operator to drive his car was fined $5 and $11 costs.

Donald L. Rawlings, charged with overlength, was fined $50 and $40.50 costs.

Donald Rawlings, charged with defective lights was fined $5 and $12 costs.

Lucious McGee, charged with having no vehicle operators license, was fined $5 and $11 costs.

Franklin Scott Mainord, charged with permitting an unauthorized operator to drive his car was fined $5 and $11 costs.

Jearyl Dean Brown, charged with careless and reckless driving, was fined $15 and $11 costs.

The cost of living is going up, too.

The Federal Communications Commission went over the earnings report of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the nation's most widely held company, and announced it would investigate telephone rates.

Frederick R. Kappel, AT&T board chairman, said the investigation was totally unwarranted and unnecessary.

He said his company had cut its rate over the years, to the point where interstate telephone rates today were 22 per cent below the 1940 levels.

On the whole, Secretary of Commerce John T. Conner reported, the American economy was good and getting better.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, who was chairman of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, called for some brakes.

He said the nation's 56-month-old economic expansion might come to an inglorious end unless steps were taken to slow the growth rate in bank credit and to curb federal spending.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, who succeeded Burns as council chairman under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson, said, however, he felt the nation's monetary policy was about right now.

POOR CHARILE SAYS!

Saturday, October 30 Commodore Perry has a very Erie experience. 1813.

THE DATE BOOK: Oct. 31-Nov. 6, Childrens Book Week; Oct. 31, Halloween; Oct. 31, 1860 (105 years ago), Juliette Gordon Lowe, founder of Girl Scouts, born; Nov. 1, 1952 (13 years ago), U. S. exploded first Hydrogen Bomb at Eniwetok Atoll test site; Nov. 2, 1865 (100 years ago), Warren G. Harding, 29th U.S. president, born; Nov. 3, 1964 (One year ago), Lyndon B. Johnson won landslide victory over Barry Goldwater in presidential race; Nov. 5, 1605 (360 years ago), Guy Fawkes tried to blow up English Parliament; Nov. 6, 1860 (105 years ago), Ignace Jan Paderewski, Polish pianist and patriot, born.

Halloween has changed and improved. It makes any grey haired man somewhat ashamed of his dangerous antics and his wanton destruction of property as a boy.

Of course some of the destruction was considered necessary for progress and for that reason desirable but much of it was senseless and wasteful.

Property simply faced a test of youthful exuberance, ingenuity and energy. In most cases property, the good and the bad and the desirable and undesirable, came out second best.

Today there are fewer unsightly objects to remove from the landscape and if modern youth were as destructive the price tag would be too high.

Almost everyone would agree that it was a form of criminal activity which would be stamped out.

That's what has happened. Oddly enough the danger of Halloween has shifted from property to children.

Every motorist should drive carefully tonight when all the little hobgoblins will be crossing streets in the darkness. Many will be wearing masks and costumed so heavily they can't see as well as normally and, giving vent to youthful enthusiasm, may dart out in front of traffic.

Drive with care and spare our hobgoblins for another day.

Give generously to UNICEF. Children collecting for the United Nations' childrens fund can be identified by cartons supplied by Potlatch Forests. They represent 20 churches in Sikeston.

The collection gives adults a chance to contribute something constructive to the observance.

They will be assisting the needy children of the world. The money goes for food and medicine.

Vandalism is not permissible at any time under Missouri law.

There is no exemption from Missouri law on Halloween or on the nights preceding October 31. Destruction of property cannot be condoned. Too frequently it has happened that victims have been individuals who are least able to pay for property damage.

The objective of Sikeston and community should be a wholesome Halloween season without damage to property of others.

Primarily, Halloween is a season of fun. Property damage cannot be classified as a type of amusement.

There are numerous parties in connection with the Halloween season. At many of these individuals attend masked or in costume.

For a number of years the Sikeston Jaycees have staged a community Halloween observance. This has featured a parade and the award of prizes in a number of classifications. This forms a fine community project in which the public is invited to participate.

At this season a major portion of leaves from trees has fallen. A fire igniting dry leaves could damage property and possibly endanger lives.

Halloween should be observed in a spirit of merriment without destruction of property in the city or in rural areas. It is no time for vandalism.

About this time of year, it's unbearably hard to accept the fact summer is gone. Labor Day never convinces--it usually falls on the hottest day of September. Even the artistry of nature in the fall leaves seems to leave vague doubts, particularly if the days are still warm to hot. But Halloween is the clincher--the one thing that tells us fall chores should be done, and that summer is no longer with us except as a memory to cherish fondly in the cold winter ahead.

And of course, Halloween invokes its own memories--of those far off times when a pumpkin was not the residual leavings of Cinderella's coach, not even the vision of pies to come, but a beautifully leering, candle-smoking haunt for an October night. Of times not much later when we were proudly self-acknowledged "young hellions" committed by tradition to assaults on then prevalent Chick Sales architecture and the locking of a calf in the school house every Halloween eve.

Other memories, too--of scraping soap from windows, clearing toilet paper and even less sightly debris from our lawns, and muttering imprecations against those same "young hellions" we had once proudly professed to be.

As youngsters, we never really wondered nor cared what Halloween was meant to honor, what its real meanings were; and when age turned anticipation to dread of the approaching event, we no longer cared.

As a matter of historical fact, however, Halloween is one of the oldest annual observances to survive the ancients--even older than Christmas--with roots extending deep into paganism.

The Druids, for example, held a three-day celebration the first of each November. And on that first eve, the spirits of the dead were supposed to roam the earth. With superstitious fear, the Druids gathered together and lighted huge bonfires to keep those spirits away. Came the day, and the spirits returned to the netherland, then the festival of autumn could begin.

The Romans also celebrated the fall festival, but to them it was purely a festal honor to a pagan goddess, Pomona, a time to rejoice at the fruitfulness of the earth and the crops they had laid away for winter. The Romans, too, lighted huge bonfires, but only to celebrate and for the roasting of apples and nuts.

Christianity brought its changes, but it couldn't kill our superstitions centuries old. Nov. 1 became a day when the saints were honored. This for the new God, but for the old ones there were still the old rituals, the old fears.

In time, with the enlightenment of Christianity and learning, the old fears died, but old memories clung and, not unnaturally, in the birth of one religion and the death of another, this celebration took on some of the dressings of both.

European peasants paid their tribute to their saints, but they also clung to some of the superstitions, and Halloween became a time when certain people were possessed of spirits--could tell fortunes, foretell the future, particularly if encouraged with certain rituals, such as jumping over lighted candles, basking in the glow of open bonfires.

Of course, we moderns know better. Living in the age of great progress and enlightenment, we no longer even give lip service to those spooks and goblins. No sir, we're too smart!

So we'll remind you to ask yourselves: Are the storm windows up? Lawnmower and garden tools put away? Car winterized? Ready for tax and Christmas bills?

--All in the way of wishing you a smartly modern Halloween.

WAITING FOR THE READER

A large percentage of the women in the United States are working women.

One half of the working women are housewives as well as wage earners. This gives them a discretionary income above ordinary living expenses.

These working girls constitute a very large buying force to any store, a market that cannot be ignored. To reach this money spending segment of our population, the merchant must use a newspaper, the only medium that can reach them when they enjoy that little leisure they have between the office and housework.

Since no two of these working girls have the same routine, the same leisure hours, the advertiser must be there at their convenience. Your newspaper goes into the home and there waits until the owner has the time and inclination to read.

That is perfect reception -- reception no other medium can offer.

"Marxists have never forgotten that violence will be an inevitable accompaniment of the collapse of capitalism on its full scale and the birth of socialist society."--Lenin.

"Thank God I !--I also--am an American!"

Those words were spoken 120 years ago by Daniel Webster at the completion of the Bunker Hill monument.

Today we have far more for which to be thankful. America is a great nation; a powerful force in the world.

And what is the secret of that greatness? It can be found in one simple word--freedom.

Our Founding Fathers said that all men "are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

The Creator gives to the individual his life, his liberty and the right to seek happiness. Government is for the purpose of securing these rights to the individual. The Founding Fathers intended to secure life and liberty. Beyond that, they promised opportunity--not security.

It is this freedom of opportunity which has provided the power of our development and given dignity and importance to the individual. The patriots of 1776 placed a high value upon freedom -- so great, in fact, that they were willing to risk their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor in its defense. The spirit of that freedom for which they fought lives on today in the hearts and lives of true Americans. It is still the greatest single force in our land today.

Alaska, America's last frontier, is under the complete control of union dictators. Their domination extends into the various branches of the government. Compulsory unionism is supreme. The working man's only hope in Alaska is a Right to Work law.

'RELIGION IN RUSSIA IS NOT PERSECUTED'

"Article 124 of the Constitution of the USSR states in effect that the right to propagate religion ends at the church door or at a mother's knee. One cannot talk about religion or try to make converts. Atheism is actively and continuously preached."

This, the Catholic Digest states. Is the opinion of Father

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK -- With Rep. John Lindsay, the Republican liberal candidate, coming up, and Abraham D. Beame, the Democrat, once considered a sure winner, edging down, the New York race for mayor is going to be close. But no matter who wins, the election will have these important national repercussions:

The Republican Party in New York, once dominated by such liberals as Tom Dewey and Nelson Rockefeller, in the future will be split as wide open as the Republican Party in California.

The same kind of guerrilla warfare between Republicans which has caused such bitterness in California will now churn the Republican Party in New York.

Sen. Jack Javits's dramatic hope of taking over the state and becoming the next governor of New York has gone glimmering.

All this will result from the fact that a conservative candidate -- William F. Buckley -- has thrown himself into the race and built up the conservative party to unprecedented strength.

Buckley is the editor of the National Review, an ardent champion of the late Joe McCarthy, a close friend of Roy Cohn, and one of the tough routhin'-touthin' Goldwaterites of the last election.

Today his snide vindictiveness and viciousness have been replaced by a veneer of humor of the type made popular by the late John F. Kennedy. Buckley has not only kept his temper but has learned to poke fun at himself.

Asked what he would do if he won, he replied: "I'd demand a recount."

OLD COUGHLINITE VOTE

Buckley has walked into a pedestrian, lackluster political campaign and given it verve. With nobody very enthusiastic about either Lindsay, the Republican, or Beame, the Democrat, Buckley has picked up the support of those who are against school busing and for school segregation, together with the old Christian front crowd, the Coughlinites, the Birchites, the Goldwaterites and the right-wing Catholic vote.

He has made his heaviest inroads among ethnic groups -- Italians, Irish, Germans and Poles. A lot of them voted for Goldwater in 1964, even though registered Democrats. And many of them hate Rockefeller today, even though registered Republicans.

Buckley isn't even a New Yorker. He lives in Stamford, Conn. However, Bobby Kennedy showed that you can run for high office in New York without being a resident, and Buckley is cashing in on that precedent.

According to present estimates, he will roll up over 350,000 conservative votes, which will be more than the liberal party headed by Dave Dubinsky and Alex Rose, and will detract from the liberals' pivotal position of being able to tip the political scales in New York. The liberal party in this election has deserted the Democrats to support Republican John Lindsay.

Buckley is taking both old-line Republican votes away from Lindsay and conservative Democratic votes away from Beame. He's blasting Lindsay much harder than Beame, and this is definitely hurting Beame with Jewish voters. Originally Beame was considered a sure bet to carry all the very heavy Jewish vote, but it isn't working out that way. The Jewish eggheads, the Reform Clubs, which supported Gov. Rockefeller and Mrs. Roosevelt, consider Beame an honest man but the captive of the boogie boys, the ward heelers and the race-track operators. They are deserting Beame for the man Buckley is attacking -- Lindsay.

Next GOP candidate?

La Guardia, a tough, strident liberal, became one of the most important Republicans in the nation. And some Republicans figure that if Lindsay is elected mayor, he could be the next GOP candidate for president.

Possibly. But with the two largest states, California and New York, split wide open between Republican conservatives and Republican liberals, the national future of a man running on the Republican-liberal ticket must remain in doubt. Men like Buckley of New York and Ronald Reagan of California, plus the Birchites and the Goldwaterites, may hold the veto.

Walter Ciszek, S. J., who spent 24 years in Russian prison camps before being released last October.

"Religion in Russia," Father Ciszek continues, "is not suppressed or persecuted, as Americans understand the words. Instead, it is talked about as something that retards communism and impedes the education of the 'new communist man.' In school, everything is 'scientifically' explained to the children; ideas of God and of religion are treated as holdovers from the unsclerotic past."

"Older people, however, still believe in God, and their influence is still noticeable in family life. Young people hear talks against religion in school, but still can see religious practices at home. It confuses them. Publicly they will argue with anyone who suggests they should believe. Privately, however, they are not sure. Young people have their children baptized. They want to do for their children what their parents did for them, just in case. It is strange and sad and yet, somehow, hopeful. The contrast between that hidden faith, and the almost proud profession of faith in America, is simply staggering."

A social worker who passed a certain bar every night on her way home noticed that one of her former clients seemed to haunt the place. One evening, as he came staggering out of the place, she spoke to him. "Why do you go into a place like this? What makes you do it?" she asked. "Why, nothing makes me do it, Miss," he replied grandly, "I'm a volunteer."

The time had come for the young man to start feeling his oats. He approached his father and said, "Dad, I'm leaving home. I'm going to find fame, adventure, fortune, beautiful women. . . don't try to stop me, dad. . . my mind's made up." The old man jumped from his chair. "Who the devil is trying to stop you?" he exclaimed. "I'm going with you."

A waiter in a chic restaurant stumbled accidentally pouring a drink, ice cubes and all down the back of a lady customer.

The woman gasped, giggled, wriggled and writhed as she tried to get the ice cubes out. With all eyes on her she leaped to her feet, overturning the table and knocking her escort to the floor. Then the two hurried out in wild confusion.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Labor Leader Tells Gov't to Keep Hands Off Airlines' Ability to Make Profits, Pay Higher Wages.

Washington, D. C. -- The invitation to the intimate dinner in a New York tower suite said black tie. It went out to some union fellows, some legal minds, some newspaper types, and several distinguished visiting statesmen.

When they gathered recently one labor leader's dinner jacket did not fit too well. He and another union chief, leaders of the same organization -- the machinists, third largest in the land -- had only one tuxedo between them. So one chap stayed home, and the president went.

Sounds unusual. But he's an unusual labor leader, newly arrived in his post as president of the International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospace Workers -- blunt -- speaking "Roy" Siemiller.

How bluntly he can talk, and how different he is, became evident the other day when he wrote to a federal agency telling it to keep its hands off the profit -- making ability of a long -- suffering industry with which the big and powerful union is now bargaining.

Siemiller, who learned about free enterprise peddling newspapers and shining shoes as a night impoverished kid, now leads some 900,000 machinists. Amongst them are 40,000 mechanics and other ground personnel in more than 40 commercial airlines and service installations.

Since he is now negotiating jointly with five major airlines he was delighted to learn that the companies have been making a profit for the first time. But he also was disturbed to learn from the grapevine that the Civil Aeronautics Board was considering a directive cutting air travel fares.

This would interfere with the companies' ability to cut the price a little bigger with their employees. This, too, would prevent expansion. And it could stall the airlines' plans to throw $2.4 billion back into modernization of ground facilities and space age air transportation, as well as developing tiny airports in smaller communities everywhere.

True, the money would go into futuristic automation. But this does not disturb Siemiller, now rapidly becoming one of the activists in the American Foundation on Automation and Employment, along with its founder, the mediator's mediator, Ted Kheel.

The machinists' president is

Maid: "I have nothing valuable, ma'am, but I thank you for the warning."

Garage mechanic to car owner: "My advice, sir, is to keep the oil and change the car."

Too many things that go without saying aren't left unsaid.

Work may not be as hard as it used to be, but it's certainly a lot more taxing.

The world changes so fast you couldn't stay wrong all the time if you tried.

No family should have less than three children, because if there is one genius among them, there should be two to support him.

not one of those running scared from automation. He and his researchers know that the airlines will need more than 50,000 new employees by 1970. They know, too, that the new super-speed air buses, which soon will have a straphanger touch, will need vastly improved airports. And before the aerial rapid transit can get into the air, the craft must be built.

This means jobs. So many jobs, in fact, that the machinists union's newspaper has been reporting considerable openings for skilled mechanics, "union wages and conditions, housing available."

It's all tied up with the ability of the airlines to pour some of their profits back into the business. So, recently, Siemiller wrote to Charles S. Murphy, chairman of the CAB, warning him to obey "the laws of basic economics."

"In negotiations after negotiations," said Siemiller, "our efforts to secure a more equitable pattern of wages and working conditions for airline ground personnel have been frustrated by the carriers' irretractable lack of profits."

Siemiller, with sledgehammer politeness, then pointed out that, "Now, however, for the first time that situation has changed. The carriers are making a profit. The level of that profit -- 10 per cent -- on investment -- is one which the CAB several years ago described as 'reasonable and proper.'"

Such a profit, he added, would enable the machinists' union to win for his followers wages and working conditions "commensurate with their skills and their responsibilities."

This would depend on the airlines maintenance of a "fair and reasonable profit."

"... We are deeply disturbed," asserted Siemiller, "by recent reports of the CAB's intention to tear out from under the airline industry the foundation of this long awaited prosperity."

"Though we have often disagreed with the managements of many airlines... we believe they are correct... in contending that a cut in fares will dilute revenues without generating enough new traffic to offset this situation... This... demands that CAB refrain from tampering with the current rate schedule."

Thus an effort is being made by the union to avert constant national aviation strike crises, of which there have been eight major threats in the past.

It's truly pie-in-the-sky. The bigger it is, the bigger the cut.

Miss Kathryn Penney Wilson

Miss Kathryn Penney Wilson To Wed Thomas King

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathryn Penney Wilson, to Thomas Michael King of New Madrid. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. King of New Madrid. Miss Wilson attended Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and is now employed at First National Bank in Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. King attended Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and is now in business with his father in New Madrid. A January wedding is planned.

Joyce Arlene Wallace Is Wed To Edward S. Davis Jr.

WYATT - Miss Joyce Arlene Wallace and Edward S. Davis Jr. exchanged wedding vows Oct. 17 at the Wyatt Baptist Church with the Rev. Richard Lance, pastor, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Wallace of Wyatt and Mr. Davis is the son of Edward S. Davis Sr. of Provincetown, Mass.

Baskets of fall flowers in shades of orange, gold, bronze and wine, from the gardens of the Wallace family's friends decorated the church. Playing the traditional wedding music was Miss Cora Hornback, who also accompanied Miss Marie Edmundson, who sang "Always" and "Whither Thou Goest" and Bobby Nally, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

Mrs. Nancy Goins of Charleston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Lona Belk of St. Charles served as bridesmaid. Mrs. Goins wore an afternoon frock of dark green velvet, featuring an A-line design, with rounded neck and elbow-length sleeves. Mrs. Belk wore an identical dress in rust velvet. Each wore a harmonizing headdress of net and carried a bouquet of Fuji mums.

The bride wore a handmade wedding gown of ivory peau de soie with a long formal train. The simple lines and rounded neckline were accented by the long French lace sleeves, coming to lily points at the wrist. Her full-length veil of illusion was secured to a crown of pearls. She held a white Bible topped with a white orchid and carnation, tied with white satin ribbon.

Larry Wallace, brother of the bride, served as best man, and James Belk was groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Eugene Magee and Franklin Brown, the bride's nephews. Little Diane Thiel was flower girl and Daryl Magee was ring bearer. Diane's velvet frock was identical to the honor attendant's and she carried a basket, decorated in satin ribbons.

Mrs. Wallace, the bride's mother, wore beige embroidered linen, a beige hat with alligator pumps and purse. Her corsage was of orange Fuji mums.

The reception was held in the church dining room.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered decorated wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom under an arch of white wedding bells and lily of the valley. On either side were pink roses and mums and crystal candleholders holding burning tapers, tied with satin ribbons. At one end of the table was the crystal punch bowl and cups.

Mrs. Davis was graduated from Charleston High School in 1957 and from Missouri Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, St. Louis, in 1960. Mr. Davis is a graduate of Provincetown High School, Provincetown, Mass., and Columbia University, New York City, N.Y.

After the reception the couple left for their home at 501 S. E. 23rd St., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Doehring and Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Pappus of St. Louis, Miss Beverly Johnson, Mounds, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. John Thiel and daughter.

A linen shower for Miss Joyce Wallace on Thursday, Oct. 14, at Wyatt Baptist Church dining hall, 7:30 p.m. was given by Mrs. Lena Sanderson, Mrs. Hilda Bowles, Mrs. Rosa Byrne and Mrs. Loretta Magee.

About 30 guests attended. The bride-to-be received many lovely and useful gifts for her home. Miss Wallace wore a long-sleeved white blouse and a pink skirt, with black leather accessories. The dining room was decorated with yellow and green crepe paper and fall flowers and greenery.

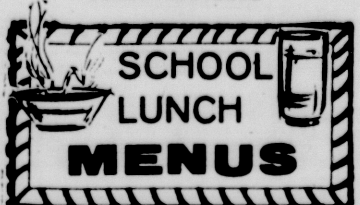

Civics Club Receives Charter

The Tellurian Group Intra-school Forum Civics Club of St. Francis Xavier School this week received its official charter from the Commission on American Citizenship in Washington, D.C.

The Charter formally recognizes affiliation of the local unit with the national organization at the Catholic University of America. Pupils of Grade 7 comprise the local Club membership.

The officers of the newly organized Club are: Chuck Lieble, president; Tina Klehn, vice president; Paula Milburn, recording secretary; Annie Waters, corresponding secretary; and Dan Corrigan, sergeant-at-arms. Tellurian Group Intra-school Forum Civics Club is one of the thousands of Catholic Civics Clubs chartered in the United States for the express purpose of developing informed, responsible citizens.

The theme of this year's program is "Building the American Dream." Club members get help in developing this theme from Young Catholic Messenger, national current-affairs weekly for students in grades 6-9. Monthly articles in the periodical point up the fundamentals of good citizenship and suggest practical projects for the club members.

Jackson Indians Scalp Sikeston Bulldogs, 19-13

The Sikeston Senior High Marching Band made a fine showing last night before a wild capacity crowd. They went out on the field with players out of action because of injuries and still did a magnificent job. As for the Bulldogs, well, they just got beat again last night. This time by the Jackson Indians, 19-13.

The Sikeston Bulldogs were shocked as the Indians scored with only five minutes gone in the game. The extra point was good. The Indians kicked and in the next four plays Lopp and company managed to get the ball to Sikeston's 46 yard line where they were forced to try for a kick. The ball was fumbled around and the Bulldogs were thrown for a nine yard loss. The Indians took possession of the ball on the Dog's 37 yard line.

Scudder made a tackle and blocked a pass. The dogs fought hard and the Indians were stopped dead by the time they had moved the ball to Sikeston's 15 yard line. Sikeston took over from there and with Wayne Limbaugh, Danny Lopp, and Terry Scudder carried the ball on down to Jackson's two yard line where Scudder went over the goal line for Sikeston's first touchdown. Lopp kicked the extra point.

For the first five minutes of the second quarter the Indians were held between their 48 and Sikeston's 45 yard line by Harry Menkin, Danny Lopp, Dennis Ziegenhorn, Harry Jones, and Tom Henzl. They did a fine job last night on both offense and defense. The Indians were forced to kick and Sikeston took possession of the football on their 22 yard stripe. The Bulldogs were held between their 22 and Jackson's 47 yard line by Freeze, Decker, Blackman, and Lewis. Alan Milburn made some fine runs, as did Limbaugh and Scudder. Limbaugh was running good but his passing wasn't up to par. The Bulldogs were forced to kick from their 47 yard line. The Indians marched on down to the Dog's 13 yard line where they threw one incomplete pass and then with seven seconds left in the second quarter on the fourth down and seven yards to go for a 1st and 10, Jackson threw another pass but it was incomplete and the half time buzzer sounded.

The Sikeston Senior High Marching Band marched out on the field playing "Brasses Triumphant." They then played "Everything's Coming Up Roses" for the twirlers who put on a fine show. When the twirlers finished the band played "Victory March" and then ended the show with the "Theme From The Second Piano Concerto By Rachmaninoff" under the direction of Keith Collins. If we can't beat them we can out band them.

At the top of the third quarter Lopp received the kick off and ran up to Sikeston's 40 yard line. Milburn carried the oval five more yards and then Limbaugh tried his luck but the Jackson line held and the Bulldogs were stopped. There was no score in the third quarter. Both teams fought hard but they held each other down.

In the fourth quarter, with renewed fire, Jackson Indian Tom Long went over the goal line from Sikeston's 45 yard stripe and the kick was blocked. Limbaugh, Lopp, and Milburn moved the ball on down to Jackson's 26 yard line. Quarterback, Ron Spears, replaced Wayne Limbaugh and on the next play Spears handed off to Alan Milburn who made a beautiful 26 yard run over the goal line for the Bulldogs. The extra point was no good. Limbaugh did a fairly good job in the first half on runs. Spears didn't get to play as much as some people thought he should have. We needed a passer bad last night and Spears was no where in sight. A team needs both passing and running and if the two could have been played together at the same time the score might have been a little more in Sikeston's favor. Let's face it, Spears is a fine passer and Limbaugh shines in running. A team is not going to win with a one sided game.

The Bulldogs had one last chance to score but they fumbled on Jackson's 25 yard line and the Indians recovered. Coach Sapp said, "They ought to lose after that." They did. Jackson scored with 31 seconds left in the fourth quarter. Keith Dunn went over on a 21 yard pass and the kick was no good. In the next 26 seconds the Bulldogs tried hard but Jackson held them down. Lopp did break loose for a 24 yard run down to Jackson's 41 yard line where the game ended with Spears faking a hand off. Both of Sikeston's touchdowns were on fourth down plays.

Green Wave Clips Eagles

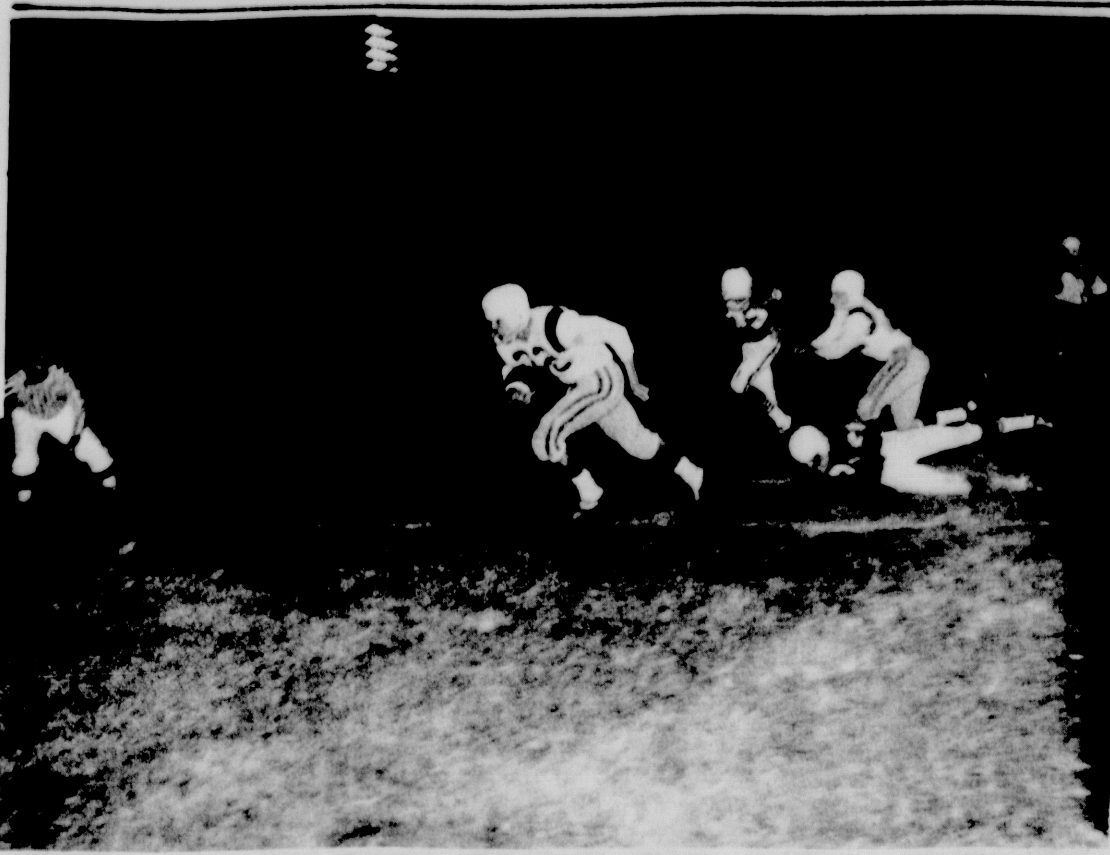

EAST PRAIRIE -- The East Prairie Eagles played host to the Malden Green Wave last night, Malden, 41; East Prairie, 0. The Green Wave is now the number one team in the Southern Conference.

Undeclared Malden has played six games and scored a total of 163 points. They are second in the number of points a team has scored this year and their Tom Schomehel is leading the entire district in total points scored by one player. The Eagles have scored 41 points this year and have allowed 148 points to be scored against them.

With five minutes and 58 seconds left in the first quarter Whitehead went over the goal line from the six yard stripe and also kicked the extra point. The East Prairie Eagles drove the ball on down to Malden's 20 yard line where they fumbled and Malden recovered.

With eight minutes and 34 seconds to go in the second quarter Malden's Tom Schomehel ran six yards for a touchdown and Whitehead kicked the extra point. Also in the second quarter Cleo Clemons ran 65 yards on a double reverse and on over the goal line. Whitehead again kicked the extra point and the half time buzzer blew. The score at the half was Malden, 21, East Prairie 0.

Whitehead ran 25 yards for another touchdown and he also kicked the extra point. In the fourth quarter Cleo ran one yard for a T. D. and Whitehead again kicked the extra point. Whitehead intercepted a pass on their seven yard line and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. The extra point kick was blocked by Hilton. "I'm not disgusted with the boys. They seem to take turns making mistakes. One boy would slack off and they would hit that hole every time," said East Prairie Coach Arlan Powell. On every drive East Prairie fumbled or had a pass intercepted. "We just gave them three touchdowns," said Coach Powell. "Malden has a real fine ball club. Probably the best ball club in the Conference."

East Prairie's Jerry Barker hurt his neck and will be out of action for awhile. Lee Phelps played for the first time in three weeks last night. Gary Risenhoover did a real fine job of passing but the receivers just couldn't catch them.

Mules Give Blue Jays Both Barrels

CHARLESTON -- The mighty Charleston Blue Jays were cleaned last night by the kicking - stomping Poplar Bluff mules, 20-6. Charleston is now hurting badly. The next two games are a have to case for Charleston to come through with the flag in the Northern Conference this year.

Bruce Nall did a good job last night calling various types of plays and mixing them up. In the second quarter John Brown ran three yards for a touchdown and Bruce Nall kicked the extra point. The Charleston Blue Jays came right back in the second quarter with Bob Richardson who scored on an 88 yard kick return. Nall missed the extra point.

There was no score in the third quarter but Larry Woods made up for it in the fourth by scoring twice. Once on a one yard run and again on a six yard run. Nall kicked one extra point but the other was no good. The leading ground gainer for the Mules was sophomore fullback John Brown who rushed 101 yards. Jonnie Piper was next with 37 and then Nall with 36 yards rushing. Mike Hendricks, Alan Barton, Eddie Moss did an excellent job on defense last night against the Charleston Blue Jays.

COPPER AND BRASS To clean copper or brass, mix up a paste of equal parts of table salt and flour and vinegar as the combining agent. Rub the paste on the metal, let it dry, and then remove it with hot soapy water. If the metal is in particularly bad shape, apply the paste more generously and let it stay for several hours before removing.

We don't call it a watch. All the parts that make a watch fast or slow have been left out. The balance wheel, springs, staff and screws. Accutron does not use these parts. Instead, a tiny tuning fork keeps time through vibrations that are battery powered. Cape Central Claws Kennett

KENNETT -- The Kennett Indians were beaten last night by the Cape Central Tigers, 12-7. It was a rough game for both teams. Cape Central has taken one more step toward the lead in the Northern Conference.

Syl Johnson scored for Central in the second quarter on a five yard run. The extra point was missed.

Mike Schuttee scored again for the Cape Central Tigers late in the third quarter on a four yard run. The extra point was missed.

Kennett's quarterback ran 15 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and he also kicked the extra point.

Valle Over Perryville

VALLE -- The Perryville Pirates were defeated by Valle last night 26-7. The first touchdown was by Ken Grass from Valle who ran five yards over the goal line and Dave Jokers kicked the point. In the second quarter Marion Kertz scored on a 14 yard run. The kick was blocked by Richard Tucker.

In the third quarter Kertz scored again, this time on a two yard run. The extra point was missed.

The Perryville Pirates were held until the fourth quarter when Richard Tucker ran six yards for a touchdown. Tucker also kicked the extra point.

PART OF the view has been obscured at the heavily traveled rural Routes P and K intersection six miles north of Hayti, in Pemiscot county by stock piling of road re-surfacing materials at right. The picture looks north of Route P, the shortcut road from Hayti to Wardell.

Bootheel Beat

Contribute to Boy Scouts

By MAX STURM

HAYTI -- The annual drive for funds to continue operation of the Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Explorer Scout programs in the 14-county Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council is in progress.

According to Bill Tweedy, Scout executive for the Seminole district of Pemiscot and Dunklin counties, the Southeast Missouri council will need $100,000 to conduct its regional program next year.

More than 6,000 boys are participating in scouting in this area. Many more want in but there hasn't been the financial means available to take care of them. With sufficient response from contributors during the fund drive, the program can be expanded to take care of the additional boys.

The Southeast Missouri council has had such an outstanding scouting program that it has been recognized nationwide. The summer camp on Lake Wappapello, which all troops may attend, is one of the major facilities.

The Southeast Missouri scouting program could not, however, be successfully conducted without dedicated volunteer service by many adults. Some serve in this work so far above and beyond the call of normal duty that they are recognized and honored for their work. One of these is Roy Stetson of Pascola who, as a guest of honor at the meeting of the Hayti Lions Club this week, received a citation and a special medal for his adult participation and cooperation in the scouting program in the Bootheel for 11 years.

Beth Stetson and Tweedy injected a sobering thought into the scouting picture when they brought out that if the scouting program could not be financed properly through public subscription, the federal government was prepared to move in with a fist full of money and take over the job including hiring the working personnel such as district supervisors on down to troop scoutmasters.

When Stetson asked Tweedy if he had heard when he received the reports of possible federal money being poured into the Boy Scout program, Tweedy stated: "That is true. I have seen it in black and white."

Tweedy added that it appeared the federal government, through its various youth aid programs, is interested in moving in on a number of such organizations in addition to Boy Scouting.

Now if anyone thinks it would be a good thing for Washington to run the Boy Scout program in Southeast Missouri or anywhere else, stand up.

Stetson, a long time adult worker in scouting, and Tweedy, a university-trained scouting executive, are against it wholeheartedly.

TRAFFIC SAFETY is everyone's business -- including the State Highway Department's. While the department over the years has done a splendid job of building and rebuilding rural roads and highways and removing traffic hazards, sometimes apparently small items might be overlooked.

Like the stockpiling of road re-surfacing materials at an important farm-to-market blacktop road intersection in north Pemiscot County. The pile is so large that it limits or obstructs the view motorists should have of traffic at the intersection.

This intersection is one of the most heavily traveled rural points in the county. It is the Routes P and K intersection east of Netherlands, six miles north of Hayti.

Route P is the short cut blacktop road from Hayti to Wardell. Route K runs east and west between U. S. Highway 61 and the Pascola blacktop. Well kept, the roads are traveled generally at speeds in excess of 50 miles per hour.

While tops of trucks and full size passenger cars can be seen over the top of the road materials, with the low swung compacts it is another thing. They are not visible.

On top of that there are no signs on the approaches to the intersection warning of the hazard and giving a safe speed.

While we were at the point of making pictures the other day, traffic on Route P, having the right-of-way, came barreling through at 50 miles per hour or more. It was frightening. If the highway department has no other place to store road re-surfacing materials for that area until they can get around to using them, it ought to put up a warning to give motorists protection at the dangerous point.

Fred L. Sturgeon of Oran Dies

ORAN -- Fred L. Sturgeon, 75, died Tuesday in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital at Sikeston, where he had been a patient two months. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Bryans, Oran; a son, Fred L. Sturgeon Jr., St. Louis; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Willett, Cape Girardeau; four half brothers, Columbus Sturgeon and Martin Sturgeon, Flint, Mich.; Albert Sturgeon, Kennett; and Woodrow Sturgeon, St. Louis; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The body is at Earl J. Smith Funeral Home. Services were Saturday at 2 p.m. in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Calvin Wilkins officiating. Burial was in Friends Cemetery.

Sturgeon was married Sept. 1, 1914, to Lucy Alice Smith of Lowndes. She died Oct. 14, 1962. Born in Jackson, April 2, 1889, he was a resident of Oran 52 years. In 1962 he retired from his work as a garage mechanic. As a young man, he served three years in the cavalry division at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Mrs. E.J. Dunn Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Edal Jones Dunn, 71, wife of Fred L. Dunn, route one, died today at 10 a.m. in the Missouri Delta Community hospital. She had been in failing health.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Harrison Tanner, Sikeston, and Mrs. Lowell Skelton, Marion, Ill.; two sons, Fred L. Jones, Jackson, Miss., and William T. Jones, Mossy Rock, Wash.; one sister, Mrs. Edwin A. Griffin, Plant City, Fla.; three brothers, Paul Jones, Springfield, and Sterling E. Jones, Fredericktown; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. She was a member of the First Methodist Church.

The body is at the Nunnelee Funeral Home, with services tentatively set for Monday at 2 p.m. in the First Methodist church, with the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Abernathy Dies Friday

Mrs. Mattie Lee Abernathy, 1217 Luther, died Friday at 6 p.m. in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, where she had been a patient four days. She was born in Wilson, Ark. She was a resident of Sikeston 24 years and was a member of the St. Johns Baptist Church. Surviving are her husband, John Abernathy; two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Moore and Mrs. Willa Dent, both of Youngstown, Ohio. The body is at the Sparks Funeral Home in Charleston.

Three Emergencies

Three persons were taken to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital Friday: Aaron Marble, injured right leg in car door; Robert Schwab, fell cutting forehead; Gerald Payne, injured back.

UNICEF Offers Help To Children

UNICEF! Is that word familiar? United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, that is what the word means. But it means more -- much more.

When the United Nations established UNICEF in 1946, the first and foremost purpose of the organization was to provide the needy children of the world with milk. The organization has grown, as have the efforts of those who are so dedicated to it. From an unknown organization, UNICEF has grown to be world famous and boast contributions from people of every nationality.

There is no distinction in the UNICEF program. Orientals, Negroes, and all other distinctions of mankind are benefited by the program.

Every donor, every person who gives of his time, or his fruits to the UNICEF program can honestly say that he has helped to feed a hungry child in India. He can honestly say that he has helped to save a child from malaria in the jungles of South Africa. He can honestly say that he has helped to clothe a child in China.

It is a good feeling to know that a child who has eaten less in his lifetime than you have eaten in one year of yours will enjoy a glass of milk or a bowl of rice tomorrow because you have given today.

Tomorrow night, some child or adult will knock on your door. Welcome him -- give generously. You drink milk every day -- you eat every day. It is doubtful that you will have to miss a meal to give a dollar or two, but even if it is, even if you must miss one meal, you will have given many meals to many hungry children.

Give to UNICEF! Your next meal will taste better than it has for a long time. -- Mike Guess

UN Celebrates Birthday; Strives For World Peace

UNITED NATIONS Day was observed by the world last Sunday, and it marked the 20th birthday of this international organization.

When the charter was approved in October 1945, the organization had only 51 members -- today it has 117.

The United Nations delegates had little time to celebrate the occasion. They were hard at work on a long list of urgent and unsolved issues, ranging from a bloody war in Asia to an uneasy peace in the Middle East.

Six major branches of the UN are the General Assembly, the Security Council, Economic and Social Council, Trusteeship Council, World Court, and the Secretariat.

Each branch performs its particular duty to make the UN an effective-functioning organization.

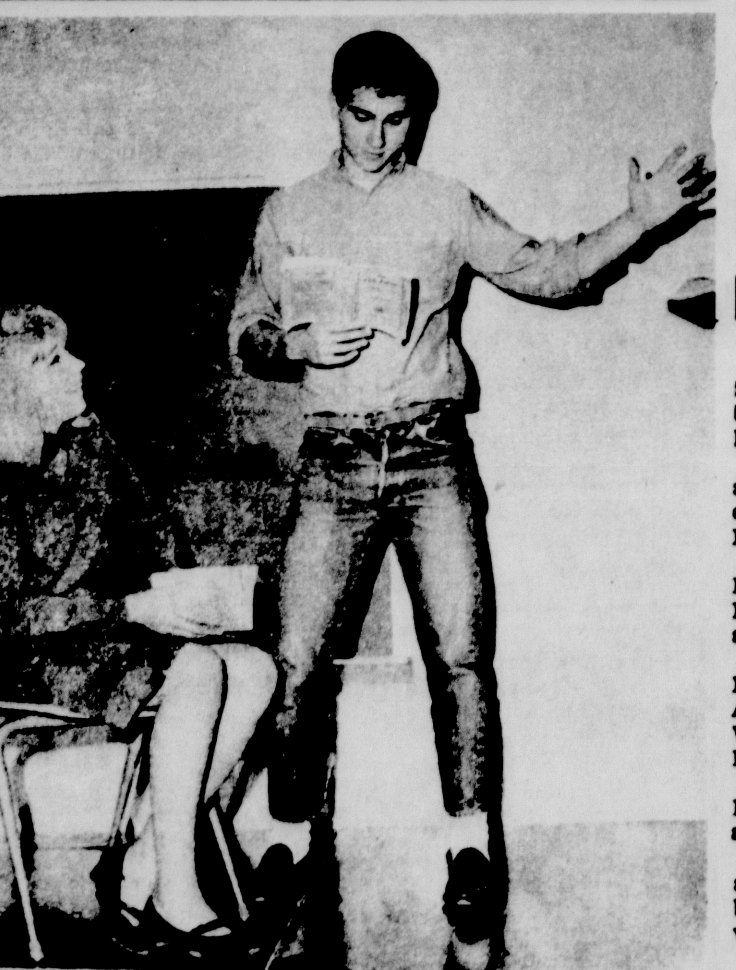

Post of UN Secretary - General is regarded by many as the most important in international affairs. U Thant, of Burma, occupies this difficult spot.

When it was born 20 years ago, the UN was the subject of heated debate among Americans. Today the controversy over the organization's effectiveness continues. True, it has not come up with any solutions for instant peace in the world, but it was never expected to produce overnight miracles.

Activities that go on within the UN are unknown to the American public. Much time and money has been spent throughout the world fighting hunger, disease, and illiteracy.

By its aid to under-developed nations, the UN is helping to defeat the efforts of Russia and Red China to spread communism in these lands. Yet, the United States bill for UN activities comes to only 30 cents a year for each individual citizen.

America has been working not only within, but without the UN to accomplish peace efforts. Through this organization lies the possibility of a world without war. --Randy York

CO-OPERATIVE OCCUPATIONAL EDUCATION students Larry Kinsey and Patty Hamby and distributive education members Sandy Ryan and Dickie Long prepare to leave for state convention meetings in Jefferson City next Monday.

Specters Overrun School

Strange things happen in a school on Halloween. Have you ever noticed? Many famous literary characters return to the classes to haunt the surroundings. Take for example-- What's that noise? It sounds like someone groaning and straining! It's Hamlet, Prince of Denmark. He seems to be dragging a body out of the room. What ho, Hamlet? "I thought Polonius was a rat, so I stabbed him. Alas, there's something rotten in the state of Denmark."

Farther down the darkened hallway another strange sound breaks the eerie silence. "Nevermore, nevermore." A man wearing a long mustache appears to be telling stories to a group of frightened people. Let's listen to what he's saying.

"It was a dark, eerie night. The moon cast its shadows on the ancient house, which was overgrown with moss and climbing ivy; ivy which strangled the lives of the eccentric inhabitants therein. And then, across the moonlit grounds rode -- 'The Tell-Tale Heart' and the 'Black Cat.' The man emitted a cruel, vicious laugh. Some joke!"

"My friends, my friends, slay me not! Even though I may be ambitious, this is not just cause to terminate my life. After all, what would Cleopatra say? Brutus, surely you're not serious!"

Well, well. It seems that Julius Caesar is re-enacting his death scene for the benefit of some of his old cronies. There's Macbeth, King Lear, Cleopatra, Mark Antony, Romeo and Juliet.

"Hut, hut!" It's the galloping, headless tacking dummy running across the quadrangle! He is being pursued by a jubilant senior girl in a red practice jersey. They may not be literary characters, but they are important characters around the school.

Many strange happenings occur on Halloween night. Schools are not excluded from visits from ancient ghosts and goblins.

Fodge Given Leading Role

MIKE FODGE will portray Sir Lawrence Wargrave for the lead role in "Ten Little Indians."

Other "actors and actresses" are WAYNE HULEHAN as General Mackenzie, DANNY CANNON as Rogers.

SHEILA ELLEDGE as Mrs. Rogers, MIKE HIXON as Fred Narracott, GINGER CUMPTON as Vera Claythorne.

DAVID BOYER as Philip Lombard, BARRY RAIDT as Anthony Marston, DAVID WHITEAKER as William Blare.

ELAINE DOCKINS as Emily Brent, and MICKIE MEEKS as Dr. Armstrong.

Costume, prop, construction, and make-up committees will be announced at a later date as will the exact time for the play.

Teachers Attend State Meet Hearnese, Reasoner Speak

Sikeston public school faculty will attend the State Teachers Convention in St. Louis next Thursday and Friday, Nov. 4-5.

"Invest in Learning" is the theme of the convention. Governor Warren E. Hearnes will address the assembly on "Missouri's Future Demands Quality Education" Thursday morning.

Assembly of Delegates will meet in Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Harry Reasoner, White House Correspondent for CBS, is the featured speaker for Friday morning. He will address the convention on the topic "Citizenship and Cynicism."

The St. Louis public schools in cooperation with The Danforth Foundation will present "Man's Search for Freedom," a dramatic and musical presentation of the historic development of democracy, on Thursday evening.

Departmental sessions will be held in the various subject matter fields and grade level areas to consider matters dealing with their particular specialty.

Exhibits of various instructional materials and equipment for observation will be on display.

This annual meeting is held in St. Louis and Kansas City on alternate years. Sikeston schools are dismissed only when it meets in St. Louis.

Journalist Talks To Sophomores

Dan Whittle of The Daily Sikeston Standard was the guest speaker for two sophomore home rooms Tuesday morning.

He said that newspapers are a symbol of freedom of speech, and that a person must have a broad imagination and a keen sense for news to be a newspaperman.

The Daily Sikeston Standard is printed by the offset method, and he talked about the importance of the correct lighting in the camera room.

Forensic Group Gains Awards At Cape Central

Tom Shaw, Dale Morris, David Boyer, Steve Spear, and King Sidwell received best speaker awards in their houses at the congress at Cape Central this past week.

Sixty-three students from Sikeston high school were present at the meet, the first activity for the National Forensic League.

Program for the afternoon was the division of the entire delegation into houses, junior house, senior house, senate, and alternate houses. Each discussion consisted of meetings in two different sessions.

Subjects discussed were compulsory arbitration of labor-management disputes and United States withdrawal from Viet Nam.

In the first session, new bills were given to committees for discussion, and recommendation of the better resolutions was given for their use as prospective debate subjects.

In many of the second sessions, rules were suspended and new subjects were introduced for discussion. Congresses sponsored by the National Forensic League chapters of various southeastern Missouri schools are conducted according to laws of parliamentary procedure.

Green Peppers Anxiously Await Photographer's Last Chance

After having the title "greenies" for the past two and one-half months, '65 initiates will receive their Red Pepper emblems on Monday, Nov. 15, in the high school cafeteria.

Agenda for the evening is entertainment by Dianne Caskey, reading of the constitution by vice-cayenne Deldre Harber, administering of the oath by cayenne Carol Werneck, distributing of the emblems by secretary Ginger Cumpton, and distributing of stars to those Red Peppers with no demerits by demerit chairman Carla Tidwell.

One hundred and ten Greenies will become official Red Peppers that night, and along with "old" Red Peppers, they will anxiously await the organization's fall dance scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 20.

Sikeston To Observe American Education

"Invest in Learning" -- Keep America Great! is the theme of American Education Week to be observed, November 7-13, in the Sikeston public schools.

Making Americans citizens aware of the importance and the necessity of education, especially in a democratic country and helping them realize that education is their responsibility is the fundamental purpose of American Education Week.

Boys' PE Learn Fundamentals Of Wrestling

Boys' physical education classes are, when the weather forces them indoors, learning the basic fundamentals of wrestling. Various holds are exhibited to the class and the students, in turn, try their luck. Exhibitions of various take-downs and pins are given them by their instructor. The boys were shown which holds and slams were legal and which were illegal.

Actual wrestling among the boys will not begin until later on in the year. Boys will weigh to determine whom he should wrestle. All boys wrestle someone near their own individual weight.

Points are awarded for various maneuvers -- the take down, or dropping the opponent to the mat; the near fall, or control of the opponent in a pinning position for one second; the predicament, or control of an opponent.

The time-advantage, or control of opponent for one minute; the reversal, or going from a defensive position to an offensive position; and the escape, or going from a defensive position to a neutral position.

Approximately 71 per cent of the United States population lives close enough to water to enjoy boating.

Only Two Weeks Remain To Purchase '66 Growler

Saturday, Nov. 13, marks the date of the annual Growler dance, and the yearbook sales will be over at that time. Dance will begin at 8 o'clock in the evening in the cafetorium.

Excitement rises as last votes are cast for Growler King and queen. Royalty will be crowned during the dance.

With each purchase of a Growler, students are given five votes for Growler royalty. Books may be purchased for $5.

Growler staff members attended a yearbook workshop last Saturday in Dexter. Many new ideas concerning layout and photography were discussed at the meeting.

Growler staffers privately discussed cost and special yearbook ideas with the Paragon representative.

Next week the journalists will devote the entire three days to the Growler. Senior pages, faculty, and some candid pages will be completed.

Students wishing to purchase a Growler should do so in the next two weeks. All voting will end on Friday, Nov. 12.

Patricia Lemonds Is New Student Teacher

Miss Patricia Lemonds, senior from Southeast Missouri State College, was a guest of the Barker and Growler staff Monday.

Miss Lemonds is a student teacher for Mrs. Tony Statler, and she will arrive for work the second week of November. She will assist with the English classes and the journalism class.

She is majoring in English and minoring in journalism in college.

Miss Lemonds is a member of the Tri Sigma sorority, and she also works in the traffic office at the college.

Photographer Will Return; Last Chance

"Shutterbug" will return the week after teachers meeting break to photograph the juniors and sophomores who missed their chance before.

These pictures are needed to complete junior and sophomore yearbook pages.

Sophomores who are requested to have their pictures made include JoAnn Davis, Randy Gilliam, Pat Hart, Lem Hill, Greer Huff, Cleveland Jackson, Mary Jenkins.

Lester King, Margaret Lay, Polly Newman and Ollie Mae Shannon.

Juniors are Kathy Arnold, James Blue, Wade Burton, Lester Carter, Marilyn Carter, Valerie Critten, Rita Douglas, Pearl Mae Grant, Mike Hicks, Eddie Hodges.

Joe Howard, Barbara Hubbard, Bobbie McKnight, Mary Sharon McVay, Lynn Moran, LaVerne Riggins, Joe Schuchart, Nancy Shrum, Ruthie Wilder, and Glenester Williams.

All of the above students are urged to have their pictures made when the photographer returns.

Barker Students Take 'Breather' Occupational Group Treks To Capital

Because of the state teachers meeting in St. Louis next week, the Barker staff will not publish a paper for the abbreviated school week.

We will take a breather along with the rest of the students, but we will return as usual with a paper in two weeks.

We will use this time to work on the yearbook. Next Barker will be published Friday, Nov. 12. See you on that date!

Library observes Nat'l Book Week Feature Exhibit

"Sing out for Books" is the theme of National Book Week to be observed in Sikeston high school November 8-11.

Any student who checks out a book from the library during the week will receive a bookmark.

Book exhibit of 488 new books on loan from the BOOKS-ON-EXHIBIT, INC., will be the featured attraction in the library. These books are thoroughly organized according to grade level, subject area, and type.

This collection will be on display Monday through Thursday, Nov. 8-11, from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m.; Friday morning, from 7:30 a.m. until noon.

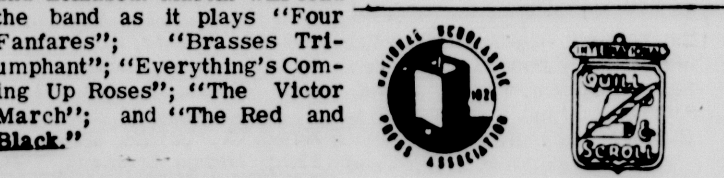

"Students, sing out for books! This week you have a golden opportunity to help us select new books for the library, but we cannot order the books you want unless you let us know," states Frederick W. Huff, director of library services.

Thank You

Junior Dixie Campbell was chairman of the pep committee for the Cape - Sikeston game. Football players lined the quadrangle, and posters made the walls come alive with spirit.

"Pep tags" were worn on the shoulders of the student body throughout the day.

Student body and Red Peppers offer their appreciation to Dixie and her committee.

Very few children's games are invented; most have evolved or survived from ancient times. Leapfrog goes back at least to the 1st century. The Roman author Petronius described a boy climbing the back of another saying "Bucca bucca, quot sunt hic?" Translated into English this is, "Buck, buck, how many fingers do I hold up?" The old parlor game of forfeits uses the same refrain.

HOW'S THE PAPER DOING, CHAUNCEY? I'VE BEEN READING YOUR ANTI-NOISE EDITORIALS CLOSELY. A VERY BRAVE STAND YOU'VE TAKEN AGAINST SQUEAKY TRICYCLES. I MIGHT ADD...UM-HAK!...I'VE FINALLY DECIDED I CAN SQUEEZE OUT ENOUGH TIME TO DO THAT DAILY COLUMN WE'VE DISCUSSED!

A COLUMN? OH YEAH, I REMEMBER YOU ASKING ME! A LITTLE LATER, MAJOR! RIGHT NOW WE'RE SO LOADED WITH FOOTBALL WE CAN ONLY GIVE SIX INCHES OF SPACE TO CONGRESS!

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Oct. 30, the 303rd day of 1965. There are 62 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, the U.S. Destroyer Reuben James, with 100 men aboard, was torpedoed and sunk off Iceland — the first Nazi destruction of an armed U.S. vessel.

On this date In 1882, the late Adm. William Halsey of World War II fame was born.

In 1893, the Columbian Exposition closed in Chicago.

In 1910, flier John Moisant won a $10,000 prize by circling the Statue of Liberty in a plane.

In 1922, Benito Mussolini became premier of Italy.

In 1943, Allied bombers attacked the German-occupied city of Genoa, Italy.

Ten years ago — New York socialite William Woodward Jr. was fatally shot near dawn in his Oyster Bay, Long Island, home, by his wife, Ann, who had mistaken him for a prowler.

Five years ago — Sen. John F. Kennedy, campaigning for the presidency, pledged in Philadelphia that, if elected, he would not devalue the dollar.

One year ago — A collection of rare jewels including the Star of India, the world's largest star sapphire, was stolen from New York's Museum of Natural History.

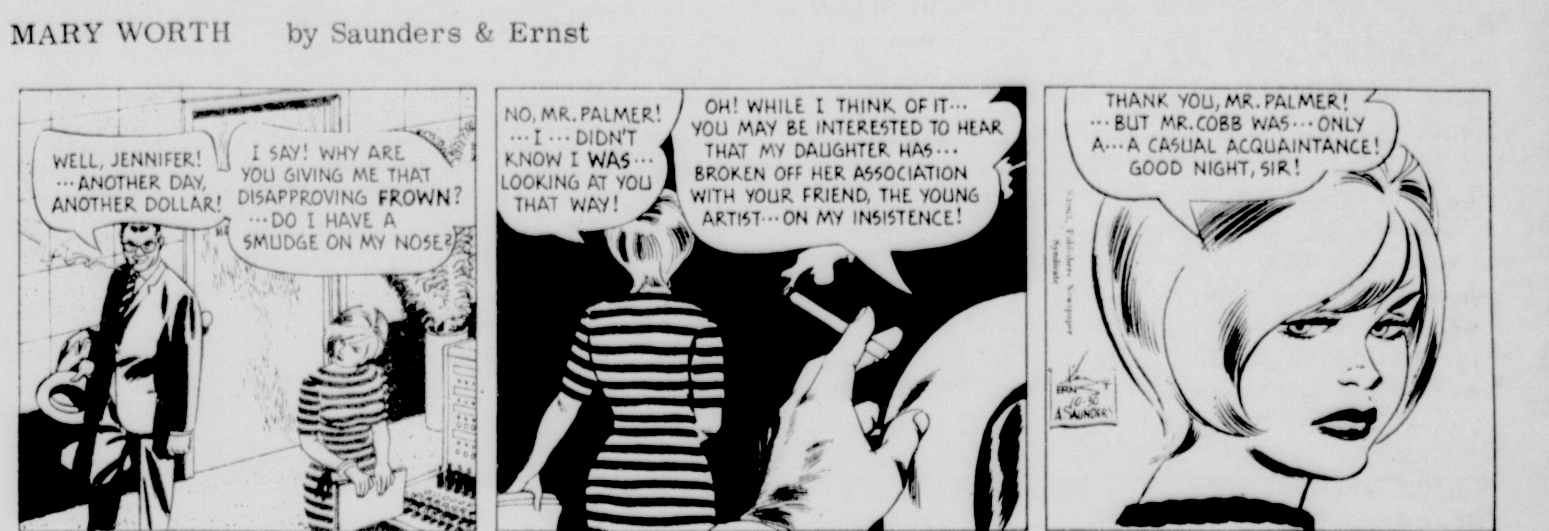

Cotton Market News

Jack Frost made his appearance early this week for the first time this season in most sections of the South Central Area. Cotton foliage was killed in most northern and central regions of the area, according to the Consumer and Marketing Service, U. S. D. A. Harvest continued at a rapid rate but is on the decline. Many gins shifted back to only one crew.

Farmers offered cotton freely. Most sales netted farmers from $1.00 to $5.00 per bale above loan levels. Buying eased some from a week earlier. Mills were not as aggressive buyers and became more selective.

Domestic mill demand weakened. Shippers concentrated on making shipments owed to mills. Foreign mill inquiries were less numerous and buying was mostly for specialty cotton.
